

contributions already received and the circumstances under which contributions may be received in future.

Total amount spent from State Funds on equipment of schools was Rs. 55,020 and success funds Rs. 21,410. The standard of equipment in the middle and primary schools has been laid down. An officer was deputed to inspect all the High School Laboratories and submit a report as to their requirements to bring them up to date. The report has been received, but its consideration has been deferred pending the revision of the S. S. L. C. and the Entrance courses. Orders have been issued requiring the District Boards to contribute a portion of the accumulated balances on account of Mohatarfa and Local Fund general which were transferred to them in 1917, aggregating to Rs. 2,00,000 to be mainly spent on non-recurring expenditure such as buildings. The amount so contributed is proposed to be utilised on buildings and equipment in the proportion of 8:1 and it is hoped that this would improve the situation to some extent.

15. Hostels—There was a slight decline in both the number and strength of the hostels as there were only 41 hostels with 2,222 boarders during the year against 51 hostels with a strength of 2,240 boarders in 1921-22. Of these hostels, 19 were Government, 19 aided and 3 were unaided. With a view to afford boarding facilities for boys in Middle School classes, instructions have been issued to start hostels attached to some of these institutions on trial and it is reported that one such institution has been opened at Ayanna in Shimoga District and its working is watched with interest. The number of boarders in the hostels is very small when compared to the number undergoing instruction in the secondary schools and this is under food to be partly due to the high rates prevailing in the hostels which prevent poor boys from coming in. The question of popularising these institutions by attracting a large number of pupils is of great importance and the problem of reducing the level of rates so as to induce students of ordinary means to live in these institutions, should receive the earnest attention of the Department.

16. The Government are glad to note that the work of the Department during the year under review was on the whole satisfactory and the Department exhibited marked zeal in carrying out the reforms introduced during the year and in working out the several sanctioned schemes.

Government Order No. 739-40-28, dated 27th April 1882, sanctioning the grant of 3,025 acres and 39 guntas of land assessed at Rs. 3,574-8-0, near the Kadugodi Railway Station and elsewhere in the Bangalore Taluk to the Eurasian and Anglo-Indian Association Mysore Branch, for the formation of Agricultural Settlements.

2. Government Order No. R. 14263-75—L. R. 451-17-17, dated the 28th June 1921, directing the resumption of the land and the village site at White Field under the control of the Association and the introduction of the Village Panchayet Scheme, under the Local Boards Regulation, for the colony in question.

3. Memorial dated 26th August 1921, of the Members of the combined deputation from the Anglo-Indian Association of Mysore and the Coorg and Settlers at White Field praying for a reconsideration of the above order re the resumption of the village site and requesting that they should be allowed to maintain the original character of the settlement and to preserve its integrity.

4. Correspondence ending with letter No. C. 1429-22-23 dated 29th February 1924 from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore on the Subject.

ORDER NO. R. 4611-1-1 R. 451-17-32, DATED 18TH MARCH 1924

Government granted a large extent of land to the Eurasian and Anglo-Indian Association Mysore Branch in 1882, for the formation of Agricultural Settlements of Eurasian and Anglo-Indian origin. It is concluded that the grant was liable to the lands in favour of the occupants and this was authorized by Government in the Order No. 16052-3, dated 23rd March 1894. The Anglo-Indian Association of Mysore and Coorg, however, continued to have control over the Settlement. Meanwhile the settlers at White Field formed an Association of their own and began to agitate for independent recognition. The question came up finally before Government in the year 1921 when they passed orders directing the resumption of the village site and the unassessed lands in the hands of the Anglo-Indian Association on the ground that it had failed to fulfil the condition on which the lands were granted.

2. Thereupon the two Associations, viz., the Eurasian and Indian Association of Mysore and Coorg and the White Field Settlers' Association, submitted a joint memorial to Government praying for the cancellation of the resumption order, the chief contention being that the Association had satisfied the condition on which the lands were originally given. They asked that the Anglo-Indian character of the settlement under the terms of the original grant should be maintained and that the lands should not be alienated by the settlers in a manner that would affect this feature of the settlement.

3. So far as the agricultural lands under private occupancy are concerned Government consider that as soon as the Association relinquished the lands to Government accepted that relinquishment, direct relationship between the Government and the Pattadars was established without the intervention of the Association. Government cannot recognize any understanding that might have existed at the time between the Association and the Pattadars. The relinquishment was made free of all conditions and under the Land Revenue Code, when a person holds patta and Government unconditionally, no restriction can be imposed at a later stage. The question has been finally settled by Government in their Order No. R. 4461-2, dated the 4th November 1915 and there are no grounds to reopen the question.

4. As regards the village site it is observed that it was given to the Anglo-Indian Association owing to whose efforts the settlement originally came into existence. As the Association has substantially succeeded in accomplishing the object of the grant, viz., the formation of an agricultural settlement of Eurasians and Anglo-Indians, Government do not wish to resume possession of the village site compulsorily without a voluntary relinquishment on the part of the Association as in the case of agricultural lands. Government therefore direct in modification of the order of 1921 that the Anglo-Indian Association of Mysore and Coorg continue in possession of the village site in accordance with the terms of the original grant.

5. Government, however, cannot allow the administration of the settlement to fall into confusion. According to the original agreement between the settlers and the Association, the latter was for a long time attending to the local requirements of the settlement and in return was collecting subscriptions from the settlers. But owing to differences between the settlers and the Association, the needs of the Colony seem to have been almost neglected by the latter, judging from the unsatisfactory condition of the roads and school buildings, etc., in the Colony. It is understood that there is some money in the lottery fund collected for the benefit of the settlement, which is either under the control of the Association or of the settlers, because of the difference between the two bodies. If by a compromise these differences, a satisfactory settlement arrived at by the two bodies for meeting the local requirements, and the Association Government do not wish to interfere in the affairs of the settlement, and if the lottery fund or any part of it is secure for the settlement Government may be able to give a grant-in-aid for the permanent improvement of the settlement. But if such a solution is impossible, an application may be made by the settlers to Government with a statement that they desire Government to bring the area under the Local Self Government Scheme and to submit the local taxation. Government will then consider the question of establishing a Village Panchayat for the Colony under the Local Boards Regulation. The establishment of a Village Panchayat for the area will be deferred.
